

MARYLAND HEIGHTS.—A letter to the Boston Journal, from a member of the Fourteenth Massachusetts Regiment, four companies of which are stationed on Maryland Heights, says:

"We are busy in refitting our quarters and remounting the heavy guns, most of which have been saved and will soon be ready for use. To-day a hundred men were detached to draw two of the heaviest guns—one a 30-pounder Parrott, weighing over 4,000 pounds, and the other a 24-pounder smooth bore, weighing nearly 6,000 pounds—to the highest point of elevation, 1,100 feet above the river. The whole battalion are now expecting to remain on the Heights during the coming season, the Government having resolved to hold the place, and to furnish a larger force, more guns, and better. Over 6,000 acres of woodland on Maryland and Loudoun Heights have been cleared by the soldiers since the war commenced, in addition to the ordinary duties of military life."

New potatoes are now selling at 40 cts. per peck—and will be lower. The crop of tomatoes is very large and the price of this vegetable is coming down.

A young widow, named Caroline Heisturburgh, residing with her brother, in New York was brutally murdered on Friday, by a German named Frederick Munter, to whom she had previously been engaged to be married. Jealousy, caused by the attention of a rival, is the only reason assigned for the commission of the crime. Munter intended committing suicide after murdering the woman, but changed his mind and gave himself up to the police. He made a full confession of his guilt.

From the west of Europe the accounts of the growing crops are quite favorable—so much so, that it is not probable any country besides Great Britain will be required to import breadstuffs. In Great Britain, with good average crops, there is still a considerable deficit which must be supplied by importation.

The steamboat Commodore, from New York for Providence, with the Forty-second Massachusetts Regiment on board, went ashore on Sunday morning northwest of Point Judith lighthouse. The steamer Delaware, from Providence for Roundout, went to her assistance, and was lying at anchor near her.

Mr. Forrester generalissimo of the armies of the Empire of China, has returned to Clayton, in Jefferson county, New York, his native town, on a furlough of one year. He had been taken prisoner by the Rebels and put to the torture. He was afterwards ransomed, and his absence is for the purpose of recruiting his health.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Commercial writes: "The Government has decided not to retain any officer in the army whose views on the war question are not in consonance with its own. It is to be regretted that cases still continue to be reported for dismissal for the use of what is termed disloyal or treasonable language.

The Louisville Journal regards the result of the recent election in Kentucky as "a deep warning to two Administrations—the one at Washington and the one at Richmond."

Captain Harry McDougal, who has spent several days at Vicksburg since its surrender, writes that he has made the most careful inquiry as to the actual number of women killed in the city during the bombardment of that town by General Grant. He learns that the number is twenty. Besides these, quite a number of children were also killed.

At all the main railway stations in England are offices for insuring the lives of passengers. A person on purchasing a ticket for a certain place can at the same time, for a small sum, insure his life for the trip. If the railroad company breaks his neck, or fractures a limb, his family will receive at least some compensation for their loss from the insurance company.
